

A free Radius online workshop

Listening Hearing Seeing

2.30 to 4.00 pm GMT

Saturday 20 February 2021

Led by BBC radio dramatist: Nick Warburton
(The Archers, Tommies, Holding Back the Tide, etc)

Listening Hearing Seeing is a workshop on writing drama for a listening audience. Nick will consider the importance of language, the creation of character, the use of the narrative voice, and the significance of structure, and will present case studies which take a detailed look at the way audio drama works. There will also be some short exercises to get you started on your own audio dramas.

"Writers don't do writing: they do listening, hearing and seeing." Sebastian Barry

Limited numbers –

To register free of charge, email

info@radiusdrama.org.uk

www.radiusdrama.org.uk

@RadiusDrama

facebook.com/RadiusDramaSociety

Radius – exploring faith through drama

